STUDY SKILLS

Are you looking for a course that addresses executive function strategies and study skills for your middle school student?

RLLC has developed a course for study skills, listening comprehension, and time management. The sessions will include calendar orientation concepts, time concepts, sequencing, and using graphic organizers to respond to questions and to organize thoughts and written responses. Executive function skills are crucial for academic and lifelong success.

This is a five-day course; a full week attendance is required to complete the course.

Monday thru Friday, 2-3 pm
Cost $200
